Bobby Greenlease, Kidnaped Monday By Woman, Still

Is Missing Today KANSAS CITY P-Hours of ag-onized waiting dragged by today without any word from the kidnappers of 6-year-old Bobby Greenlease, son of a millionaire automobile distributor. Twenty-four hours after the child was taken from the fashionable Notre Dame de Sion school by a ruse, the parents of the boy, Mr.

and Mrs. Robert C. Greenlease, waited hopefully for some contact with the kidnapper. Police, meanwhile, said they were doing nothing in an effort to avoid fightening the kidnappers and to give them an opportunity to make contact with the family. They and the family hoped such action, or lack of action, would hurry the child home, unharmed. "We're treading lightly," said

Merry-Go-Round Senator Russell Helped Stiffen Wilson's Attitude On POWs

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON-It isn't supposed to leak out, but Georgia's stern Sen. Dick Russell, leader of the southern Democrats, wrote a bistering, fourpage letter to Secretary of Defense Wilson, taking him over the verbal coals for softness toward POW collaborators.

A power in the senate and No. 1 Democrat on the armed services committee, Russell angrily demanded dishonorable discharges for POWs who signed false confessions or turned informer on their fellow prisoners.

This is the inside reason why Wilson suddenly shifted to a tougher attitude toward the prisoncrs. Previously he had taken the advice of the armed forces policy council, which argued that some prisoners had been tortured and brainwashed beyond endurance and were not mentally responsible for their actions. As a result, he ordered the armed services to consider each case separately and sympathetically.

In his private letter to Wilson, the Georgia Senator declared:

"If we are again compelled to take up arms in our defense with the idea prevalent that the department of defense does not distinguish between those who resisted heroically to the last breath as compared with the collaborators and false confessors, I do not see how we can expect the young men from 18 to 25, who must fight our wars, to measure up to what will be expected of

"Permit me to suggest," Russell continued, "That it is most important that either you or the president or the head of one of the defense agencies or some member of the joint chiefs of staff make some statement which will let every young American serviceman and young men who will soon be in the service clearly understand that our government strongly disapproves of both collaborators and false confessors.

"My views may be extreme," Russell added forcefully, "But I believe that those who collaborated and the signers of false confessions should be immediately separated from the service under conditions other than honorable . . . It is evident that the defense agencies under your direction hold other views."

The Georgian also telephoned Adm. Arthur Radford, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, and gave him the same view. The admiral listened sympathetically, but passed the buck to Wilson.

Troops Out of Germany

In a dramatic though secret bid to end the cold war before it erupts into an atomic-hydrogen war, German and Austrian diplomas have urged a new peace-by-negotiation plan. They have sounded out Russia and the United States about withdrawing their forces from Germany and Austria.

The idea would be to break off contact between Russian and American forces in Europe, thereby reducing friction. Both sides would pull out of central Europe. Germany and Austria, in turn would then guarantee strict neutrality in the power struggle between East and West.

The British, anxious to reduce tension in Europe seem to favor the plan. They are talking about combining it with a nonaggression pact, which would bring an armistice in the cold war.

Fearful that the U.S. may not go along, the British will move to reduce the strains on Anglo-American unity by lining up more with U. S. policy in the Far East.

This is the first time Germany and Austria have taken the initiative in diplomatic negotiations since the end of World War II. Their diplomats, in sounding out the state department about the disengagement plan, argue that Russia is now so preoccupied with domestic troubles that it might be willing to end the cold war and

Note-Chief difficulty with the proposal, however is that the Red army only needs to withdraw a few miles into Poland across the border from Germany and a few miles into Hungary and Czechoslavakia across the border from Austria. It could then move back to Austria in a few hours. The American army on the other hand would have to withdraw either to French bases which are not too happy about U.S. troops, or else back across the Atlantic.

Glands Have Tremendous Effect On Human Body

withdraw into its iron shell.

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

A tiny gland called the pituitary lies on the underside of the brain at the base of the skull. This gland secretes several important hormones which are necessary for the development and function of various organs and which act likewise on the body as a whole and on other glands of internal secretion.

One of these hormones which is secreted from a portion of the pituitary body or gland acts on another important internal gland called the adrenal. There are two adrenal glands which are also small and which lie close to the two

This pituitary hormone activates or stimulates a portion of the adrenal glands and is called adrenocorticotrophic hormone or ACTH for short. Apparently without the stimulating action of the secretion from the pituitary gland, important hormones of the adrenal glands are not formed in sufficient amounts.

All this sounds a little complicated and, it is. However, the last few years have made this subject of practical importance in the treatment of many diseases. Several different diseases are being treated with success both with an adrenal secretion which is called cortisone or by the stimulating pituitary secretion, ACTH.

Both these hormones have remarkable effects. many of which are still not too well understood. Both substances are being used in some eye diseases, arthritis, and a number of other conditions, some of which have not up to this time responded well to other forms of treatment.

Administrations Come And Go But Five Percenters Stay

By Douglas Larsen

WASHINGTON -(NEA)- Administrations may come and go but the five percenter business is apparently here to stay-even though it's devalued a percentage point or two.

And there always seems to be a place for new talent in the field.

As one frankly proud five percenter explains

"What's the difference between what we do and the law profession? Lawyers have a special knowlege of the law and legal procedure which they sell. We have a special knowledge of the complicated machinery of government which we sell. It's a profession which they ought to be teaching in colleges."

He also claims that politics doesn't have much to do with getting ahead in the field. As proof he cites the cases of three prominent Democrats who are now making good peddling their specialized knowledge of various functions of the government, even as it is being run by the Repubil-

They are Leslie L. Biffle, crony of former President Truman and former secretary of the Senate; John R. Steelman, former assistant to Truman, and Franklin D. Richards, former Federal Housing administrator. There are others, too.

Have Good Clients, Too

Within the trade it's reported that Biffle and Steelman have each latched onto several very good clients, big firms whose Washington interests they are now handling. Richards is in the mortgage business which obviously puts him in frequent contact with the government's housing

The Eisenhower inaugural official, Warren L. Stephenson, who recently got into the soup by trying to sell information about proposed classified Navy purchases was strictly a rookie, the veterans all claim.

Everybody in the "per cent" business in Washington knew about the Navy rocket launching contract on which Stephenson got burned, the old hands assert. It was leaked widely before Stephenson heard about it. Word had gotten out that the FBI was looking into it and everyone but Stephenson stayed away from it.

The Stephenson case, it is claimed, points up the two most serious abuses in the government's procurement system. And the system hasn't changed materially since the Republicans took

The first weakness is that it still lends itself to the "influence peddling" which Congress tried to eliminate several years ago. The four or five percenter who knows an important cabinet officer or two, or can get an undersecretary on the phone any time, still has the inside track on government business. He can influence the procurement officer lower down to throw a contract one way or another.

Weakness in "Closed Negotiation"

That situation is made possible by the biggest weakness of all in government buying which is the closed negotiation." This device is supposed to be used exclusively for secret items. Yet in the past few months large contracts for such items as tent poles, mess kits, ammunition boxes and belt links have been let on negotiated con-

The way it works, the purchasing official gets in touch with a few companies he knows can make and deliver the item he wants to buy. These firms then submit informal estimates of what it will cost to produce the item. But the purchasing agent isn't committed to accept the lowest offer. nor is the firm committed to accept the order on the basis of his tentative offer.

The whole thing is worked out by "negotiation." And it's "legal" because there's a "secret" stamp on the order.

Sometimes only two or three companies are asked to make offers on negotiated contracts. There may be six or 10. But it strictly limits the number of firms which can ever get a crack at Pentagon officials admit that close to 80 per cent of all of its weapon procurement is done by the negotiated contract, although nowhere near that fraction of the buying involves classified items. .

It keeps the four and five percenters in business. The trick is to get around to the purchasing agents of all of the various bureaus and offices and get the company they represent included in the exclusive negotiated contract notices. The big firms can afford to have their own full-time representatives handle this business. The smaller firms have to depend on the five percenters.

Manners Make Friends-

May you use your fingers in eating the following foods: Bacon? Yes, if it is very crisp. Fried chicken? Only at picnics, cafes that specialize in fried chicken in a basket and purposely serve no fork with it, and at your own family table-if that's the way your family likes it. French friend potatoes? No. Those are the rules -but don't insist on following them if your hostess orders otherwise.

The situation determines what is proper and Home owners now can heat their homes with rubber panels only one-sixteenth inch thick, which can be glued right to the ceiling. The panels consist of a layer of electricity-conducting rubber mounted between insulation paper. Aluminum foil on both outer surfaces protects the rubber inside from moisture.

One of the first applications of the transistor, the tiny low-power gadget that may take over a lot of jobs of the radio vacuum tube, is in the hearing aid. It is small in size and helps reduce the space taken up by the batteries.

these glands of internal secretion and of the hormones which they produce for many years. However, the discovery of the extraordinary effects of these two hormones on many actions of the human body and on some of the body's diseases has caused a great deal of excitement among medical men.

As a result the tiny pituitary gland, like the two small adrenal glands, is being subjected to some of the most intensive studies which have ever been given to any portion of the human anatomy. It is exciting work and the investigators who are engaged in it are truly involved in new experiences as thrilling as those of any explorer.

Justice Department officials said today that when the Republicans took over on Jan. 20, they inherited from the Democratic administration a "preferred list" of proposed exclusions which included 96 racketeers and 33 subversives, mostly Communists.

Officials said this elite group has now been expanded to cover 131 accused as racketeers and 142 as subversives, a total of 273.

Of these, 3 notorious hoodlums have been actually deported, 50 other persons are under deportation orders, 34 are undergoing denaturalization proceedings in the federal district in which they live, and the others are in various stages of investigation or litigation.

Attlee Group Holds Control of Laborites' Policy Committee

MARGATE, England (A)-Aneurin Bevan and his left wing followers easily held their beachhead today on the Labor Party's National Executive Committee. But former Prime Minister Clement Attlee's Moderates held on to their overwhelming control of the party's top policy-making group.

The annual party conference re elected the Bevanites to the six committee seats they won last year from the Moderates. The Attlee faction again won the other 22 places.

The committee includes representatives of trade unions, cooperseven members of local party organizations. The Bevan group fills six of the latter seats.

Each of the Bevanites received more votes than last year. Coupled with the defeat of two Moderate candidates, this was interpreted as a sign that the left wing was more than holding its own with the rankand-file party workers.

Bevan has carefully abstained from clashes with the Attlee group. Both he and the former premier have emphasized a need for party

The Greatest Gasoline Development in 31 Years

New Lonoco Super Gasoli

Start the "TWO-TANK TEST" today!

CROSS SECTION OF TYPICAL SPARK PLUG

Conoco Super Gasoline with TCP has been rightfully called the greatest advance in motor fuels since the introduction of tetraethyl lead in 1922. For here, at last, is a gasoline so dramatically different that the average motorist can feel the improvement in his car after just two tankfuls. Yes, after your second tankful, chances are you will know why we say Conoco Super with TCP will:

- Boost power as much as 15%!
- Increase spark-plug life up to 150%!
- Give you extra gas mileage!

For Conoco Super is a new kind of gasoline—a gasoline especially developed to correct the greatest single cause of power loss affecting most of the cars on the road today.

Combustion deposits drastically reduce power

Trademark owned and patent

Main and Missouri

applied for by Shell Oil Company

When you drive your car, deposits constantly build up on spark plugs and in the combustion chambers. These deposits can "cheat" you of power in two ways. First, they short-circuit spark plugs—causing them to mis-fire. Second, deposits in the combustion chambers cause fuel to ignite before it should. This is called pre-ignition or "wild ping." The combined effect of mis-firing and pre-ignition is loss of power, lack of "pep" and wasted gas.

How Conoco Super with TCP works

Combustion deposits form here, causing mis-firing and loss of power. TCP neutralizes these deposits, giving top power and performance.

TCP is a special chemical additive which is added to Conoco Super Gasoline. It was specifically developed to overcome the loss of power and fuel caused by combustion deposits. TCP neutralizes harmful deposits on spark plugs—your plugs spark as they should. It prevents deposits in the combustion chambers from causing pre-ignition—"wild ping" is controlled.

Thus, every time you fill up with new Conoco Super. it's like getting your spark plugs cleaned and your engine tuned-up.

TCP helps your car, whether new or old

If you are driving a new car, with a high-compression engine, you need Conoco Super Gasoline to keep your car delivering all the power that was built into it. If you drive an older car, with tens of thousands of miles on the speedometer, Conoco Super can restore much of the "new car" performance and power you've been missing.

Start your "TWO-TANK TEST" today

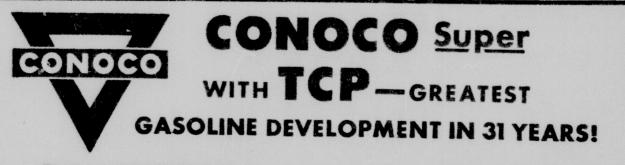

When your gasoline tank is onequart r full or less, fill it with Conoco Super with TCP. Now, there will still be some ordinary gasoline mixed in with your Conoco Super. So make sure your next tankful is Conoco Super, too. So rapidly does Conoco Super work, that with this second tankful, chances are you'll feel as if your engine has had a tune-up. You'll feel a boost in power. Try it today. We're sure you'll stay with Conoco Super.

A newcomer to Hollywood, the German gal can't understand the attempts of the press to chart her romantic future.

"It mystifies me," she sighed. "Columnists call up and ask, 'I hear you and Bob are getting married.' I tell them it's news to me and they claim my friends have told them it's true. I can't understand that because I never discuss such things with my friends. "After I spend 15 minutes ex-

22 Soldiers Die In Crash Of Airliner

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (P)-A chartered airliner nearing the end of its journey with a load of Puerto Rican soldiers crashed late yesterday at Louisville's Standiford Field killing 22 of the 41 persons aboard. The survivors were reported in critical condition at three hospi-

The twin-engine C46, one of five chartered by the Army to transfer 140 soldiers from Camp Kilmer, N. J. to Ft. Knox, Ky., nearly touched ground when undetermined trouble developed.

After pulling up to about 400 feet, the liner nosed down and crashed with a terrific impact. Bodies were scattered as far as 1000 feet. Some were decapitated.

Only the stewardess among the crew of three survived. Resort Airlines of Miami, Fla., operator of the flight, identified her as Dorothy Jean Bush, 32, of Miami. The pilot, Capt. Whorton Moller, 33, and his assistant, CoCapt. John DeWitt Pickel, 31, both of San Antonio, Tex., were dead when ambulances arrived. The status of the soldiers was not clarified immediately since their records went with them on the transfer. Authorities at Camp Kilmer said they were among a group of Puerto Ricans processed from overseas for reassignment and that quite likely some of them saw combat service in Korea. Lt. Col. Roscoe Buckles, staff duty officer at Ft. Knox, said the men had been taken to Camp Kilmer from Puerto Rico. None of the survivors could tell what happened.

One witness, Carl South, a transportation agent for Trans World Airlines, said the plane came into view at about 1,000 feet and deand crashed into the middle of the wit
